

The challenging birthday

It was a warm day. There was a boy named Jack and it was his thirteenth birthday tomorrow. The mum wanted to get him a gift because she hadn't given him a gift in 3 years. So the mum went to the shops to buy a gift.

The first shop she went to was the watch shop, but in the watch shop there were no watches that could fit him. Then the mum went to a clothing store to buy some cool shirts and jeans. When she went in the store the staff said everything that Jack would have liked in the shop was out of stock.

The mother was very sad that two shops couldn't give her what Jack would like. After she went to a pet store to buy a puppy and the mum knew that everyone that knows Jack will know that he loves puppies. So the mother went into the pet store and found a perfect puppy that was blonde, cute and playful. The mum thought that the puppy will keep Jack company when he is working and she knew that it would be an exceptional gift.

Before she brought the puppy, the mum brought some puppy toys. After she brought the puppy and the toys home the mother hid the puppy in a giant gift box in her room. When Jack got back home the mother told him to go to sleep because it was late and because you want to have a good sleep before a birthday. When it was Jack's birthday he opened his gift and was so happy that he cried in happiness and said I would play with the puppy all day. After Jack named the puppy Cute. But two hours later the dog hurt Jack so much by biting him on his right palm.

He screamed so hard that his mom rushed to check on Jack and when she saw him the mother drove to the hospital as quickly as she could.

When the doctors were finished with him they said that he can't write for six months. After the mum and Jack went back home the mum had to return the puppy because it's very dangerous to have a really harmful puppy, especially when all puppies bite a lot. When she got back home the mum asked Jack if he wanted an anzac biscuit. He said "no thankyou, but can I go on technology?" The mum replied "yes". When Jack went on to technology he felt bad for Cute that we didn't give the puppy another chance. So he went to tell his mum about how he feels, but she said "but the puppy hurt you so we're not going to give the puppy another chance". Jack was sad. Then Jack went to sleep early because of what just happened before. When he woke up he felt a lot better than yesterday, and when it was midday his mum told Jack that he was going to go to a sleepover at his friends house for his friend's birthday. Jack was so excited for the sleepover. When Jack was at the party he had the best day of his life. He had cake, brownies, soft drinks and he went on a trampoline, a pit and a parkour course.
